AMUSEMENTS

At the Airdome.

The excellent bill presented by the management of the Bijou Airdome is drawing big crowds to each performance, and furthermore, is pleasing even the most fastidious. No just adverse criticism can be made of the three star acts witnessed at each of the two performances, and there is a reason why the immense audiences go away each night pleased.

Last night was a warm night, but the Airdome was cool, nevertheless, and the audience enjoyed the performances immensely. The bill contains three of the foremost entertaining acts seen on the vaudeville stage. The Airdome orchestra adds greatly to the bill, while real up-to-date moving pictures are presented. As has been the case all the week Hampton and Bassett received encore after encore in their presentation of "The Drummer and the Maid." Chas. Burch as a comedian caused roars of laughter, and Williams and Culver in "An Auto Trip" simply brought down the house.

At the Orpheum.

The splendid two-act bill which Managers McIntyre & Vucovich are presenting their patrons this week continues to attract excellent box office receipts at the Orpheum. It is one of the most entertaining bills ever booked by the management of the house, therefore, this patronage is deserved.

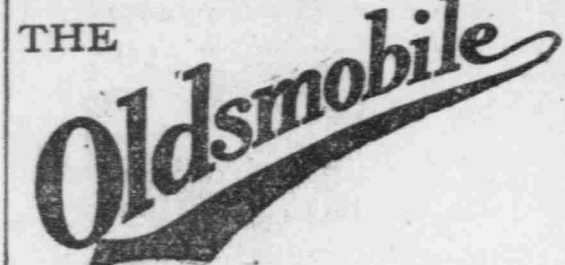

From the standpoint of genuine dramatic art, the act of "Elena," "The Squaw Girl," is by odds the classic act ever seen on the Orpheum stage, and those patrons of the "Little Playhouse around the corner" who have not seen "Elena's" superb delineation of Indian womanhood are missing a treat but seldom accorded vaudeville patrons in Pensacola. In cadence of action, in facial expression, in dramatic effect she is simply perfect in her impersonation of an Indian maiden.

O. L. Knight, an extraordinarily clever impersonator and singer, is one of the most entertaining comedians ever seen at the Orpheum.

SAWMILL FIRM IN BANKRUPTCY

MANISTEE MILL CO., OF MANISTEE, ALA., IS FORCED TO THE WALL BY CREDITORS, SEVERAL OF WHOM ARE PENSACOLIANS

The Manistee Mill Co., the owner of which, V. J. Herlong, is well known in this section, has been forced into bankruptcy by creditors. The firm is indebted heavily to a number of Pensacola firms. The following account of the failure appeared in the Mobile Register of yesterday:

"Vastine J. Herlong, sole owner of the Manistee Mills Company saw mill property at Manistee, Ala., was thrown into involuntary bankruptcy yesterday when petition was filed by the Pensacola Grocery Company, Consolidated Grocery Company of Pensacola, and the Mobile Electric Company of Mobile. The assets of the Manistee Mill Company are, it is said on good authority, between $200,000 and $400,000, while the liabilities are about $200,000.

"The immediate cause of the bankruptcy was the failure of Mr. Herlong to secure a loan which he was working hard to get. The larger creditors knew that he was trying to get the money and held off some time. When Mr. Herlong failed to raise the amount of money he expected, the larger creditors held a meeting and decided that it was best to place the valuable property in bankruptcy, thereby protecting it from disintegration. The placing of the Manistee Mills Company in bankruptcy, it is said, may be the means of Mr. Herlong going ahead and finally paying out. It is hoped by his friends and creditors that he will be able to make arrangements to go on with his business and take the case out of the bankruptcy court.

"After the petition was filed there was an adjudication of bankruptcy and reference to R. T. Ervin. The filing of the petition was somewhat of a surprise to some of the smaller creditors who expected the business would be carried on by some arrangement with the larger creditors.

"The Manistee Mills Company owns one of the largest saw mill plants in the Mobile and Pensacola saw mill district, and the failure of course created some excitement in lumber circles."

CHALLENGE TO THE NEWS NINE

THE JOURNAL, FOR THE SECOND TIME THIS SEASON, WANTS GAME WITH THE NEWS.

Just one month and a half ago The Journal issued a challenge to the News for a game of ball.

In fact, The Journal had decided, after due consideration for the feelings and fond hopes and noses that were going to be crashed into promiscuously on that bloody day, to wallop the News people good; to make them wish that they'd never seen a base ball or real baseball players, and just naturally make them take on a dead run whenever the good old game was even mentioned.

What The Journal was intending to do the misfit bunch of players around at its esteemed contemporary was a plenty, but—

The News evidently got "cold feet," and the challenge brought forth nothing.

And now here's a second challenge, hot from the griddle, and actually sizzling with the real live energy and good 'ball tossing instinct of a fine bunch of diamond artists, really, who are just near spilling to show what they'll be able to do.

In fact, The Journal has a deep laid scheme to lick the whole outfit to the queen's taste, especially after the trouncing it received last year at the hands of the News bunch. It feels like squaring up such old accounts, and "there's how."

Now for it!

LEAGUE TEAMS SOME PLAYERS

BASEBALL OF MERIT IS BEING PLAYED BY THE AMATEUR TEAMS IN THE PLAYGROUNDS LEAGUE—THE PRESBYTERIANS VS. EAST HILLS TODAY.

The city league, better known as the Playgrounds league, is putting up a good article of baseball for its first year.

The aggregation of has-beens and future lights of baseballdom make a good collection of teams for the good of the sport in town. And, the playing, besides doing the players good gives the local fans good baseball other than a la Western Union, which is very commendable for the summer months.

Temple Beth-El, who played in such hard luck Tuesday, when, up to the third it looked good their way, are strengthening all the time and each game makes the race look more interesting for them.

The Presbyterians have won a game and expect to finish at least in the first division, although they seem to be in a slump just now. This afternoon will show whether it is temporary or not when they tie up with the East Hills.

Christ church is playing excellent ball, as was shown yesterday when they held the 1000 per cent Sacred Hearts to the interesting score of 3 to 2.

The Grays are playing half and half, having won and lost each two games. They have some excellent individual material, but haven't gotten down to their regular stride.

Both Sacred Heart and St. Michael's are going some. By switching players they have both been able to lead up with 1000. When the two meet the fur is expected to fly, the event being scheduled to come off on June 30.
